Sent to Jail for Giving Faise Testimony in a Liquor Case.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

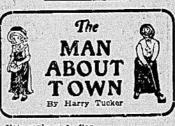

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., Nov. 7.—William Doherty, a boile-maker employed at the shipyard, was fined $10 and given thirty days in jail in the Police Court this morning for perjury. Doherty was found in the Beach saloon, a joint which was relided by the police two weeks ago, and was summoned to appear as a witness for the Commonwealth against W. B. Wintree, proprietor of the piace who was charged with selling liquor without liceuse. When the case was tried Saturday night the witness was not inclined to be communicative, and positively denied that he stated to the officers that he had bought liquor in the joint.

After the trial he was taken in custody on the charge of perjury. The city police have had considerable difficulty in their efforts to break up the lawlessness existing just outside the city limits on account of the disposition to keep "mum" on the part of the witnesses, and it is expected that the convection of Foherty will have a healthy effect.
